7.6 System Auditing

NACCS Center may, when is deemed necessary to verify whether appropriate security measures have been implemented on the user's system or not, conduct audits on the user's client, computer system, network, and their utilization, including physical inspections at facilities where the user's devices are located, upon obtaining the user's consent.