

8.2 Connection Test Items to Prepare for Joining NACCS

Prior to conducting a connection test, each user is required to have certain items in place in addition to their company's own server. Table 8-2-1 shows the items that users need to prepare.

Table 8-2-1 Items That Users Need to Prepare

Hardware, software, etc.	Instructions
[1] NACCS connection router	To be provided by NACCS Center upon request from the user for access line
[2] Access line	To be provided by NACCS Center upon request from the user for access line
[3] LAN cable, etc	For connecting the user's system to the NACCS connection router <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ GW (SMTP/POP3 or SMTP two-way)LAN cables and other items that users should provide
[4] NACCS Center pinging IP address (including that for a connection test) (Note)	To be notified by NACCS Center by postal mail or e-mail upon request from the user for joining NACCS
[5] NACCS Center pinging IP address for DNS functions (Note)
[6] NACCS Center IP address for DNS functions
[7] Domain name for NACCS center server (including that for a connection test)
[8] User's e-mail address (including that for a connection test) (Note)
[9] User code and user password (including that for a connection test)	Posted on the website of NACCS Center to be downloaded as needed.
[10] Procedure Specification	Prior to conducting a connection test, users are required to apply for a connection test. NACCS Center will arrange the date of a test upon receipt of the application. The details regarding a connection test will be provided by NACCS Center to the applicant after the date of a connection test is arranged.
[11] Application for a connection test

(Note) NACCS Center notifies a domain name and an e-mail address for each server (*) according to the processing mode.

(*)User using following processing mode will be notified the following information.

- Users using the Management Document Information retrieval (User's system)
 Users will be notified "URL of NACCS Center (including that for a connection test)" instead of "Domain name (including that for a connection test)" and "User's e-mail address (including that for a connection test)".